

Microsoft Teams

Collaboration to Transform Your Business

What is Microsoft Teams?

Microsoft Teams is one of the newest applications offered in most of the Microsoft Office 365 subscription plans. While Microsoft has been very successful with Skype for Business over the years and will continue to offer it, Microsoft Teams is the next evolution in collaboration capabilities.

Microsoft Teams is often called an application acting as a single pane of glass to enable users to access all of the services of Microsoft Office 365. Sure it can be used for Instant Messaging, screen sharing, telephone calling, conference calls, etc. But it also provides easy instant access to a team SharePoint site, OneDrive, a OneNote file, to use bots and apps that help simplify our every day lives, easily view a PowerBI report, etc. All of these features in Teams are offered with enterprise security, compliance, manageability and much more.

Let the intuitive features of Microsoft Teams transform collaboration in your environment.

Digitally Transform Internal Collaboration

To truly do great work that enables your organization to grow beyond expectations, you must have people with a diverse background. But then how do you bring together all of these people from different cultures and different generations collaborate and share ideas? You enable them by providing Microsoft Teams as a chat based workspace. This workspace is scalable for any small company in any industry to the largest enterprise on the planet. Everyone is enabled to work real-time in a very frictionless way, the way they expect to work today. It empowers any team to take a good idea and make it an awesome idea. This is how the world of tomorrow will work. Today.

The Next Generation At Work

Microsoft Teams can become a major part of the digital transformation of an organization. As the millennial generation continues to enter and grow in the workforce they are looking to use tools at work similar to what is offered in the consumer space on smartphones and tablets. Microsoft Teams provides the perfect experience this new generation craves while offering the features and ease of functionality that older generations desire as well.
